What is claimed is:

1. A method for a handheld computer to select a 'theme' based on real time information.

2. A method for a server to select a theme and, when a handheld computer connects to it via a WAN (Wide Area Network) or LAN (Local Area Network) inform the handheld computer which theme to use.

3. A method for a server to pre-select a theme and when a handheld computer connects to it via a WAN or LAN inform the handheld computer which theme to use.

4. The method of claim 1 plus the ability to load the theme from the handheld's main memory storage area.

5. The method of claim 1 plus the ability to load the theme from the handheld's auxiliary or external storage area, if it has an auxiliary or external storage area.

May 3, 2007

6. The method of claims 1 plus the ability to load the theme from an external server.

7. A method for determining what background image is to be displayed on a computer's output display comprising of the steps of : (a) determining what theme to display; (b) retrieving the theme; and (c) outputting the theme to the output display.

● Page 19